DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-10, drawn to a method of detecting a background intensity gradient comprising computing metrics and determining that the data set exhibits a background intensity gradient, classified in class 703, subclass 19.
- II. Claim 11, drawn to a computer program of detecting a background intensity gradient comprising computing metrics and determining that the data set exhibits a background intensity gradient,, classified in class 702, subclass 19.
- III. Claims 12-18, drawn to a method of detecting a background intensity gradient comprising computing metrics and grouping features with computed metrics by position, classified in class 702, subclass 19.
- IV. Claims 19-25, drawn to a computer system for detecting a background intensity gradient comprising computing metrics and grouping features with computed metrics by position, classified in class 702, subclass 19.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and III and II and IV are related as process and apparatus for its practice.

The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)).

Art Unit: 1631

In this case the method claims of instant Groups I and III can be practiced by a method other than the computer apparatus of Groups II and IV. For instance, the methods may be implemented by hand.

Inventions I and III are directed to related methods. The related inventions are distinct if the (1) the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect; (2) the inventions do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; and (3) the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the inventions as claimed have a different mode of operation, as the methods of Group III require a further process of grouping features with computed metrics by position and then characterizing a background intensity, which is not a method step of Group I. Furthermore, the inventions as claimed do not encompass overlapping subject matter and there is nothing of record to show them to be obvious variants.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
